

Notes on Contributors

John D. Ayer is professor of law at the University of California at Davis.

John A. Bell, for many years a legislative attorney with the federal government, is of counsel to the Washington firm of Elliott & Sugarman.

Thomas Gibbs Gee sits on the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Douglas Laycock holds the Alice McKean Young Regents Chair in Law at The University of Texas School of Law.

James W. McElhaney is the Joseph C. Hostetler Professor of Trial Practice and Advocacy at Case Western Reserve University Law School.

Steven Stark is a lecturer in law at Harvard Law School, where he teaches advanced courses in legal writing.

Charles Alan Wright holds the William B. Bates Chair for the Administration of Justice at The University of Texas School of Law.

Richard C. Wydick, the author of Plain English for Lawyers, is a professor of law at the University of California at Davis.

